

- I noted earlier the all the Councilmembers and key staff were interviewed for the fire services delivery study so that's in the machine right now with our consultants
- I will report something that is sad and happy at the same time which is that I was part of a small group of transport people a week ago tomorrow to pick up a couple of Ukrainian eight- year-old twins and their father who are now living in Sebastopol and are part of the federal government's refugee program and it is desperately sad they had to come here but they had their second day at Parkside today and they enjoyed tiger Tuesday and are enjoying the t-shirts and are pretty much thrown in the deep end as far as going to public schools.
- It really is heartwarming to see the generosity of the us. Here are two girls who don't know any different yet they come to this country and literally for days after they arrived they are enrolled in a public school getting an education. Bravo.

Councilmember Glass reported as follows:

- I have to report having had some discussions with basically the department head overseeing the CoC as well as the CDC
- He has discussed funding for these issues and actually the Department of Health services are going to be putting out an RFP.
- They have about $6 million to spend for a homeless, basically homeless litigation and they ended up having a little more funding than they had expected so there will be an intermission coming out about that in November and once that information is out, with the ability to garner some of that funding.
- There is also some funding that is called the homeless encampment litigation plan.
- I'm not quite sure what that stands for and there will be more information coming out about that in December.
- It would be basically coming to the CDC but it is state money so we need to keep our eyes on those funds for issues we have in town.

Councilmember Gurney reported as follows:

- I checked my calendar and found two more items to report about the Library Advisory Board and other than doing library business, putting in a letter of support for an art project, the board also recommended decommissioning the fountain in that space between the library and the City Hall building.
- City staff has been notified of that and the notion is wasting water and it could be useful doing some other public service.
- Also wanted to mention, Mayor, you and I were involved in an informal discussion with the bicycle coalition about a potential bike event here and in the committee there was a lot of interest but not yet someone ready to step up and lead and do the work.
- Curiously the bicycle coalition said he needed a strong staff member who is a cyclist, I thought we may be strong on the staff but we need a community-based committee to move the item forward so I'm hoping that the new Council have a bicycle advocate on it and someone who may want to take this on perhaps with our help and perhaps not.
