Hello,

I received this public comment via a phone call from Marcia Toscher:

Strongly opposed to Grocery Outlet, she would rather the city buy the lot and do whatever in the building, retail-wise, but, more importantly, provide more parking in that lot. More parking downtown is much needed for the city. A lot of the residents who have been here for many years love the small-town feel, and she moved here because there are no big-box stores allowed. She would like Sebastopol to maintain its small-town community.
